Big Idea	Current Grade	Good citizens take action to improve their communities. Good citizens from the past can help us make better choices in our own lives. Our customs, symbols, and celebrations reflect American values.	Our founding documents such as, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution helps citizens learn about the securities of our freedoms.	Governments provide services and make laws to manage conflict, to keep order, and to keep us secure. Public officials have different roles depending on if they serve a community, state, or nation.	Stories, poems, statues, and paintings are part of cultural heritage. Cultures have similar and different celebration.

Pacing		10 days	11 days	12 days	12 days
Big Idea	Current Grade	The past helps us to understand how things got to be the way they are today. We can learn to make good choices in our own lives by learning about historical figures in the past. Celebrations unite us and remind us of what is important.	Texans have a rich and diverse culture that includes all of us.	Knowledge of the places in our world enriches our lives and makes us better citizens. Maps and map skills help us to better understand the world.	People make choices on how to save and spend their money and where to live and work. Work provides income to purchase goods and services.
